

MAEYSTOWN VOLKSBLATT

Maeystown, Illinois

Maeystown Preservation Society

Oktoberfest

It was an unusually warm but beautiful day for the 28th Oktoberfest. We were pleased to have over 50 artists, crafters and antique vendors. The crowd seemed enthralled with demonstrations from Jim Agne, using the hand powered wood lathe, Mike Lanham, the blacksmith, Charles and Maxine Weber who made pine needle baskets and Nancy Spence, the wire and clay artist. Those attending also enjoyed the variety offered at 13 food booths and the newly opened Stonebridge Bar & Restaurant. Some stands even ran out of their specialties.

It is amazing to see in a village the size of Maeystown, a festival with thousands in attendance, managed so flawlessly. That is a tribute to an organization like our Preservation Society. Much thanks goes to all the members and Preservation friends who donated many hours to our cause!

Country Store Thank You

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

A HUGE thank you to all of you who helped in the Country Store at the Oktoberfest. A tremendous amount of work is involved in the success of our Country Store. To you early-bird workers making coffee and selling doughnuts to the vendors, to those of you who break your backs setting up the tables, the canopy, and hauling out all that wonderful apple butter and other fantastic items for sale in the store, to you workers who smilingly sell our wares all day, to those of who spend hours baking, making crafts, growing vegetables, and collecting flower seeds for sale in our store -- THANK YOU!!!

You are Fantastic, Wonderful, and Generous!! We could not do it without your help.
