Maeystown, Illinois

Maeystown Preservation Society

November Meeting

Due to the Thanksgiving Holiday, the Society will meet on Tuesday, November 17, instead of November 24. The meeting will be held at the Mill at 7:30 p.m.

Twenty-Ninth Annual Maeystown Oktoberfest October 11

On Sunday, October 11, the Maeystown Preservation Society hosted the 29th annual Oktoberfest featuring crafts, arts, antiques and food.

After battling rainy weather for most of the month, we were very fortunate to have a clear workday on October 10 to prepare for the Oktoberfest. On the day of the Oktoberfest, it was sunny and cool. The rains returned again the following day. The Society was thankful for the interlude of dry weather.

We were pleased to have over 50 artists, crafters and antique vendors. The crowd seemed enthralled with demonstrations from Jim Agne, using the hand powered wood lathe and Mike Lanham, the blacksmith. Those attending also enjoyed the variety offered at 13 food booths.

It is amazing to see in a village the size of Maeystown, a festival with thousands in attendance, managed so flawlessly. That is a tribute to an organization like our Preservation Society. Much thanks goes to all the members and Preservation friends who donated many hours to our cause!

Country Store Thank You!

Congratulations! You outdid yourself again this year with your generous donations to the Country Store for our Oktoberfest! A HUGE thanks to all of you for the time and effort that went into making/growing/bringing the wonderful baked goods, garden vegetables and craft items.

Another HUGE thanks to all of our tireless workers for helping clean up the Mill, set up the tables and tents, and then do it in reverse on Sunday afternoon. Another HUGE thanks to everyone who worked in the Country Store on Sunday. Oktoberfest is a great success every year because of you!

The Steeple

A historical event occurred in Maeystown on Saturday, August 1, 2009 when the church steeple was removed for repairs. Some of the men from our church worked for weeks getting things ready for the big day. A large group of spectators assembled to watch the procedure. Preparations that morning were that the crane boom was counter weighted with two 2,000 pound blocks to prevent the crane from tipping. A crane with a platform was used to lift the workers up to the steeple to loosen the bolts around it. Heavy straps were attached to the holes that were drilled into the steeple. There was complete silence and some anxiety as the boom ascended to the top of the church and successfully hooked the steeple. It glided over the cedar tree by the church, over the power lines, and without any problems was set down in the church parking lot. There were cheers from the crowd.

A huge iron plate weighing several tons was used to temporarily cover the hole on the bell tower where the steeple had been. It was lifted off a flat bed to the top of the church to mark the holes that needed to be drilled. When it was brought down the holes were burned into the plate with a torch. It was then suspended in the air to cool the metal.

The steel plate was lifted up and placed on the bell tower. Some of the men were inside the bell tower to make sure the holes on the plate were placed correctly and the plate was bolted down by the crane operator. The workers all knew what they were doing and everything went smoothly. Another cheer sounded and the church bells were rung in celebration. Everyone gathered around the steeple to inspect it. It was easy to see that the old tin roof needed to be replaced.

Some of the members of our church removed the old tin and put plywood on the steeple. A layer of stainless steel will be applied by Bill Eheler's manufacturing company from Waterloo, Illinois.

A very special thank you to Mark Hoffmann and Brian Edler who did a lot of work on this project, as well as to anyone else who helped.

When the steeple has been repaired it will again be placed on the bell tower.

According to old records, the steeple was built in 1877 by Alphonse Smolkart and Thomas Fink for the cost of $1,300. The church building was completed in 1867. Pastor Umbeck laid the church cornerstone in 1865. (This information was obtained from the book AEROHEADS TO AEROJETS.

After weeks of hard work of replacing the old wood with plywood and applying the stainless steel to the steeple by volunteers of the church and community, the steeple was ready to place on top of the church on October 1, 2009. Again there were a lot of spectators who were all interested in watching the procedure and again preparation by the very capable operators of the equipment before the operation began. The steeple was successfully lifted from the parking lot and onto the top of the church building after the removal of the iron cover on the church. It was again bolted down and the beautiful cross was attached to it. What a glorious feeling that everything went so smoothly without any problems. There was a shout of joy and applause. The church bells were again rung for a mission completed.

The steeple looks beautiful and can be seen peeking over the hills as one enters the little village of Maeystown. It is an awesome sight. We invite any and everyone to worship with us. We also want to again thank everyone who helped in any way.

Note from a Member

Thank you for the article on Chaflin Bridge. My sister-in-law, Bernice Rose Klump is 92 and lives in Kennewick, Washington. She always talked about dancing at Chaflin Bridge.

I sent your newsletter to her and she really enjoyed reading about that place.
